Dear Hugh,

Congratulations on successfully completing the PADI Administer Oxygen in an Emergency Situation training program conducted by Shona Pinkerton on 18/6/2010. This course is based on the following nationally recognized unit of competency:

SRXEMR003A Administer Oxygen in an Emergency Situation

Enclosed, you will find your Statement of Attainment for this unit of competency. Please keep this letter with your certificate as it confirms competence of your knowledge and skills in the optional skill Bag-Valve-Mask .

The Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) recommends that "all those trained in CPR undertake at least annual competency assessment in CPR". Furthermore, in regard to administering emergency oxygen, the ARC advises that "Annual revision courses with re-accreditation assessment and recertification are essential". Please verify your industry requirements or check with your employer or PADI Oxygen Instructor whether CPR refresher training is required within a year or less (some industries require refresher training every six months).

Accidents and illnesses can happen every day. Should you need to use your Emergency Oxygen Administration or CPR skills, we would like to hear from you. Sharing your story will encourage others to use their skills and provide assistance in emergency situations.

Please contact us on traindep@padi.com.au or (02) 9454 2848 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Henrik Nimb
